CHRYSANTHEMUM CULTURE

Rooted cuttings of chrysanthemums half price of potted plants when two or more of a kind are ordered, except patented varieties and current introductions.

Patented Varieties. We have not found them any better than others of same color except Fred W. Rockwell. One cannot sell them or give them away. In my opinion, they are not worth bothering with.

A few do's and don't's: Plant in well prepared soil that has had a coat of manure the previous fall or winter if you have it, or an application of commercial fertilizer worked into the soil 10 days before planting. Side dress with any fertilizer about July 10th, again when buds appear just before a rain. Keep well cultivated, pinch out top when 6 or 8 inches high, again after the side branches have made good growth. Not after July 20th it might be too late for buds to set. Don't plant too near a building or tall trees. Give them room enough to develop and produce the blooms you expect. By all means dig up your old clump each Spring, divide using the new shoots, destroy the old one. You will be rewarded for your labor.

1955 CHRYSANTHEMUM INTRODUCTIONS

HAZEL (Coles) A new pure yellow spoon, bush 32" x 32", stiff stem, good foliage. After Hurricane Hazel passed we found this one stood up the best of anything in the garden, hence, the name, Hazel. It produces 3 3/4 to 4" flowers in abundance. A worthy new member of the family of Wonder Spoons originated at Echo Valley by Mr. Coles. Here is what Mr. Amos Kirby says: "Dear Mr. Coles; I have attended many of the leading fall flower shows in South Jersey and Eastern Pennsylvania in recent weeks and I want to tell you how your new 'Hazel' Chrysanthemum stacks up with other varieties. To me 'Hazel' is a new spoon Chrysanthemum that I can recommend to both amateurs and professionals as a variety that should be in very garden." Amos Kirby, Garden Editor Philadelphia WCAU.

Dear Sir,

In regards to the Mums I must say that this is the first time that I have received plants as far away as Magnolia, N. J. to Beaumont, Texas, and not even have a wilted leaf among the plants for in the past we have expected to lose one in every five plants. I will not hesitate to recommend your plants both for size and the care that is taken in packing them for shipment. And I should know as I have experimeted for the past 6 years with plants and getting them shipped from almost every state in the United States. R.E.G.
